Time horizon to failure, event horizon	This is the time from a specirfic date until a point in time beyond which a system element will fail to process consistently, predictably, or accurately.